Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

THE DAY'S ROUNDUP

Three members of the Army hockey team will soon be out with the ball club and all are hoping to fill in some of the weak spots in the machine. Nick Metz and Bobo Bobrosky are back from their furloughs, while Julian Sawchuk is returning soon and is expected to be seen in action behind the plate. Metz is reported to be a smart infielder and has his eyes on the shortstop assignment . . . Nearly 3,000 fans watched yesterday's inter-city double-header and certainly were treated to different brands of ball. The soldiers proved no match for the visiting Bellingham and were soundly trounced in the opener, but the shipbuilders from the V.M.D. came back and evened accounts by capturing the afterpiece when Tommy Musgrave showed that he was master of the situation from the mound. The former professional pitcher won his own game by lifting the ball over the centrefield fence with a mate aboard . . . The second exhibition just got over in the nick of time for old Jupe Pluvius went into action just as the last man was retired in the final inning. As expected, my weather prediction went a long way in helping the local association, although at times during the evening I thought yours truly was going to be right for once in his life . . . Here's a little advice to the many youngsters who just love to hop the fence in front of the first and third base bleachers: Stay behind those railings for you all know what happened during the second game yesterday. One kid was smacked by a fast traveling ball right on the head and he was lucky that he wasn't badly hurt. However, he was soon rushed into one of the dressing-rooms and given first aid by a doctor called from the stands.

FROM HERE AND THERE

Remember when The first floodlight major league baseball game was played? That was nine years ago last night and it brought together Cincinnati and Philadelphia clubs in the former city and some 20,000 fans were on deck for the inaugural. The Reds took heart on the lowly Phils and just won by a 2-1 score. Since then night games have become generally popular in the majors . . . Also remember when Johnny Coulson, the Toronto sculler, became a Diamond Sculls favorite, seven years ago today when he won the 2,000-metre event at Heidelburg, Germany, in record time? He won several important European events that year, but at Henley, he was unfortunate—his shell tipped shortly after the start . . . Bob Montgomery, the young colored fighter, who picked up the world's lightweight boxing crown, the other night in New York by whipping Beau Jack, is a blacksmith's helper in a shipyard plant when not plying the leather to somebody's face and midsection. He has had sixty professional fights and has won fifty of them . . . Two of the biggest men in heavyweight boxing circles met recently in a Brooklyn ring. They were Ben Moroz weighed in at 300 pounds and is six feet eleven inches while his opponent, Gil Stromquist pulled the scales down to 255 and is seven feet tall . . . Don Meade, one of the finest race riders on the American turf, is now making something like $200 galloping horses at Belmont Park seeing that he is barred from taking mounts in New York State. That's scarcely peanuts for such a high roller as Don Meade who has made thousands of dollars piloting home winners.

GOSSIP FROM THE FAIRWAYS

Two youngsters started off bright and early Sunday morning on a new racket, so they thought, at the Gorge Vale Golf Club, but their "game" is as old as the hills. They parked themselves near the ditch on the eighteenth hole and, as the drives came down the hill, they sneaked out from the nearby trees, picked up the balls, and rushed back under cover. This kept going on all morning and early on into the afternoon, but the youngsters became too hoggish and were finally trapped by golfers in the woods between the last fairway and the first. . . . When captured they were escorted to the clubhouse and were given the third degree by the club secretary. Their pockets were emptied and some of the best looking golf balls I have laid eyes upon for some time were laid out on the table. . . . The boys were given a good heart to heart talk and released, so I will guarantee that they won't be back for a long time. . . . However, that trick of picking off drives was in vogue when yours truly was packing sticks around the Oak Bay and Colwood courses many years ago. It was a regular pastime with the caddies on the old seventh hole, and many a time a visiting shotmaker from across the border was credited with a "hole-in-one" or his tee shot disappeared altogether. The same took place at Colwood and the twelfth fairway was the big stamping ground in those days. The funny part about the whole affair was some of the golfers who lost their drives felt sorry for the boys for the simple reason they were former caddies and admitted to me in the locker room that they did the same thing when they were on the job. . . . Apparently the men's final at the Uplands course will be held next Sunday between Roy Silvahn and Gordon Verley and I have been invited out there to spend the day with the boys. . . . Out at the Gorge another final will be run off with Eph Robinson facing Freddy Basanta. The latter will have to play better golf than he did last Sunday in eliminating Al Simpson to take Robinson's title away from his, that's a cinch.

Jockey Richards Creates Record

Veteran Race Rider Scores His 2,750th Winner in England

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINDSOR, England May 25 (CP)—Despite a lightning strike by 300 bus workers, the largest crowd in the history of the Royal Windsor Race Track overflowed the gigantic ring and cheered mightily as Britain's champion jockey smashed a record that stood for fifty-seven years.

Giving the lie to critics who believed such sports as racing could not survive bitter war years, nearly 30,000 holidayers walked, cycled, traveled by horse-drawn conveyances or were rowed from the town to the course situated on an island in the Thames.

The new mark came when Gordon Richards, a stocky little fellow of thirty-nine, rode his 2,750th winner, one more than the total set up by the great Fred Archer back in the 1880's. Scotch Mist was Gordon's mount and the two-year-old galloped to a neck victory in the five furlong Cannon Yard stakes.

The cheering and applauding lasted more than a full minute at the finish and it broke out again as Richards guided his mount through rows of spectators to the unsaddling enclosure.

The one-day strike of the Windsor bus employees developed when they refused to run a "pleasure-seekers' service" on the Easter Monday holiday. An odd kickback occured when some of them, seeking admission to the track, were refused. They were told: "You have talked about carrying workers only; this meeting is for workers only, on a one-day bank holiday, and you don't come under that head."

TAXI FARES HIT NEW HIGH

Some persons traveling by taxi paid the equivalent of $35 for the trip from London, although the normal fare on the meter was around $9. A number of London cabmen were told by police that the reasons for their journey were unsatisfactory and that further investigations would be made.

In a sense, the London-Windsor cab trip was legal because it is just within the regulation limit from the metropolitan boundary. At the same time, however, the Government had asked that taxis not be chartered for pleasure trips.

Son of a miner, Richards told newsmen that "I hope to go on riding for many more years before I begin to think of taking up training or any other career."

A jockey twenty-four years, Gordon started his racing career when he obtained a job in a stable as an apprentice under the famous Steve Donoghue, now a trainer.

Although Richards exploded a record riding honors at the one-day meet went to little Tommy Carey who rode five winners on the eight-race card. He was up on Mrs. Pumpkin Filly, Straight Deal, Tiger Glide, Charwoman Filly and Sugar Palm. Trainer Walter Nightingale saddled all but the last, three for Dorothy Paget. Meanwhile, on the same day but over in neutral Eire, Miss Paget's Golden Jack won the Irish Grand National at Fairyhouse.

Gomez Goes to Washington Club

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, American League mound star, was signed tonight by Washington Senators.

Gomez said he believed his arm is in good shape, despite ineffectiveness last season. He was released recently by Boston Braves.

The veteran signed with the Braves after a brilliant twelve-year career with New York Yankees, who released him last Winter.

BALTIMORE, May 24 (AP)—Bewildering his opponent with dazzling speed and tossing dynamite with both fists, Lee Q. Murray projected himself squarely in the middle of the heavyweight fight picture tonight with a decisive eight-round knockout of Alf (Big Boy) Brown, Detroit negro.

The South Norwalk, Conn., leather slinger employed an unorthodox southpaw style that left Brown befuddled and ineffective as he attempted vainly to get inside Murray's guard to use his characteristic rough-and-tumble infighting. Only in the weights did Brown have an edge, tipping the scales at 233 1-2 against 203 for Murray.

Seattle Club Breaks Even

Rainiers Divide With Portland

Seattle Rainiers won the nightcap of a double-header Sunday, 1-0, behind Ed Carnett's one-hit pitching to seize a Coast League series from Portland and pull the Beavers down into a tie for last place. The Beavers won the opener, 4-0. Seattle won the series, four games to three.

With their two ace righthanders pitching the victories, San Diego Padres turned back Sacramento, 6-2 and 2-0. The double victory enabled the Padres to take the series, four games to three. Charles Schanz hurled the first game and Frank Dasso the nightcap.

Los Angeles Angels, league leaders, and their cross-town rivals, Hollywood Stars, split a baseball double header. The Angels won the opener, 5-1, and the Stars the seven-inning nightcap, 6-4, on a five-run spree in the final frame.

San Francisco and Oakland split a twin bill Sunday and so did Ralph Buxton, right-handed part-time pitcher for the Oaks. Oakland won the first game in ten innings, 5-4, and San Francisco the seven-inning game, 4-2.

Buxton finished both games for Oakland as a relief pitcher and was credited with both the victory and the loss. He pitches only on weekends when the team plays in the Bay area.

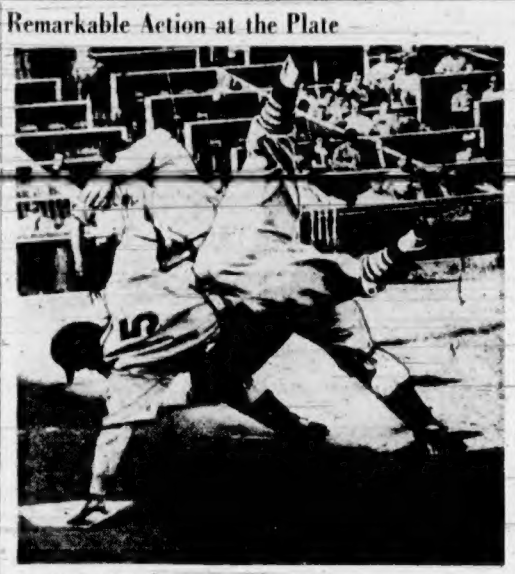
Senior Softballers Will Play Tonight At Athletic Park

SENIOR softball nines will resume their double-headers this evening at Royal Athletic Park, Royal Canadian Air Force and Army will meet at 6:15 o'clock, followed by the V.M.D. and Navy in the afterpiece. After dropping their first two games, soldiers will be out to break into the win column at the expense of the Fliers and may find the task quite difficult. R.C.A.F. will probably send Harry Braverman, their ace twirler, to the slab against the Army, and if he is in shape the troops will find base hits hard to collect. Navy will be out to avenge their earlier setback at the hands of the V.M.D. when the two clubs meet in tonight's nightcap feature. Bluejackets blew an 8-0 lead in their first game with Manager Ed Ashe's proteges and finally tasted a 10-8 setback. But Petty Officer Alec Ross, in charge of the sailors, vows it will never happen again. Bill Billsborough and Eggerston look like the probable hurlers.

Remarkable Action at the Plate



This remarkable action shot shows Manuel Vias, Sacramento fielder, as he was nailed attempting to score the tying run in the seventh inning at Gilmore Stadium, Los Angeles, Calif. The Sac tried to come in all the way from first on Hensley's hit, but a smart relay—Gudat to Lilly to Younkers—cut him off. Vias is seen clutching Catcher Younkers with a stranglehold around the neck as he loses his balance in trying to contact the rubber. The Hollywood Stars won the game, 6 to 5.

Attendances Are Bigger in Philly

PHILADELPHIA, May 24 (AP)—A check of the new Phillies' attendance today showed that in twenty-one games this season they've drawn 180,049 spectators—some 68 per cent as many as the 277,901 the old Phillies attracted in a full season of seventy-four games last year.

Attendance records have toppled right and left, but the significant thing, apparently, is that the new owner, Bill Cox, is no long ertalking about finishing above seventh place—he's got his eye on the pennant.

Bellingham Divides Exhibition Series

Defeats Soldiers' Ball Club, 17-3—Loses to V.M.D. in Nightcap, 4-1

Bellingham Bells, leaders of the Vancouver-Bellingham Baseball League, split yesterday's international exhibition series with Victoria clubs. Visitors trounced Army, 17-3 in the first fixture and suffered a 4-1 setback at the hands of the undefeated V.M.D. club in the nightcap.

Tommy Musgrave, ace righthander in the champions' ball camp, stole the major portion of the orchids in his clubmates' smart triumph over the Bellingham Bells. Working on the hill, Musgrave twirled three-hit ball in another grand display on the mound. He fanned nine. Equally as effective with the willow, the husky pitcher clouted a two-run homer in the second frame to give the shipyard workers a lead they never relinquished.

Bells and V.M.D. turned in a smart exhibition of the diamond pastime, and the crowd of approximately 1,700 applauded a number of their fine plays. Hustling from the start, the clubs played the nine-inning fixture in just over, ninety minutes.

Bellingham scored their only run in the second frame. Andy Padovan, veteran catcher, was given a life and romped around to the keystone sack when his long fly got away from Maurice Duffy in the outer gardens. Hilton and Martin, the next batters, fanned, and then Boo Luckitt, visitors' pitcher, singled scoring Padovan with the Bells' only marker.

V.M.D. registered three runs in their half of the second inning. Charlie Restall went to first when he took one of Luckitt's benders on the elbow and pilfered the keystone bag. Al Euerby singled and went to second when Bells made a play at the plate to get Restall. The throw from Leftfielder Van Sinderin was wild and Restall scored, while Euerby moved around to third base.

With the score tied at 1-1 and a man on third, Tommy Musgrave, V.M.D. pitcher, lifted the ball over the Pembroke Street fence and scored two runs for the locals.

Shipyard workers picked up their fourth and last marker in the fourth frame when Restall singled, stole second and scored on an error by the Bellingham short-stop.

Two of the fielding highlights of the game were Charlie Restall's shoestring catch Van Sinderlin's long line drive in the ninth inning and LaBaron's one-handed spear of Harney's liner which the Bellingham infielder turned into a double killing.

Bob Luckitt worked for the Bells and heaved good ball. He had a variety of stuff on the "apple" and held the hard-hitting V.M.D. club to eight safeties.

BELLS DEFEAT ARMY IN AFTERNOON GAME

Bells had an easy time trouncing the Army, 17-3, in the matinee attraction, after the soldiers booted the ball to give the visitors nine unearned runs in the first three frames.

Bellingham added eight more markers, but they powdered the ball hard to drive across the additional tallies. Andy Padovan hammered out a three-run homer in the fourth frame and Clarence Marshall clouted a two-run circuit drive in the sixth. In the fifth inning Sid Van Sinderin, who had a perfect day with the willow, punched out a two-run triple.

Clarence Marshall, young Bellingham hurler, pitched four-hit ball for the visitors and fanned thirteen. One of the smartest pitchers to show here with visiting clubs, Marshall gave the troops a lot of trouble.

Stan Curry, army-aider, started for the soldiers, but gave way to Bill Prior in the second inning. Curry bumped into trouble right enough, but wobbly support accounted for quite a number of the Bellingham runs.

Troops settled down and played better ball after the third session, but the extra-base clouts of the visitors added telling markers to the lop-sided score.

Soldiers scored their three runs in the fifth when Marshall gave up three walks and a single by Kreller pushed across two runs. The other was walked in.

More than 1,300 people witnessed the matinee attraction.

TOAST and TEA

By J. V. McAREE

YOU may remember the story of the fairy princess who was able to prove her royal blood, and the daintiveness of life to which she had been accustomed, by detecting the presence of a pea put between two mattresses upon which she was sleeping. There was also an incident of which Queen Victoria was the heroine. The beautiful Empress Eugenie was visiting her in London and one evening they went to a theatre. The audience had already assembled when they entered the royal box and there was the usual enthusiastic reception. Both queens went to the front of the box and bowed. Then they stepped back to sit down. Eugenie gave a quick glance to see that her chair was in place. Victoria did not look around. She simply sat down, knowing full well that there would be a chair ready for her at any moment, placed by expert and obsequious hands.

The Needle Was Invented by the Arabs—Prior to the Crusades the only sewing implement known to European tailors was a needle made of bone. The returning Crusaders brought back with them a boon for the needle trades—a needle made of steel. This implement, which was of tremendous economical importance had long been used by the Arabs who invented it.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—Buyers and sellers seemed content to let the stock market drift today and leaders generally jogged over a narrowly irregular course in the fourth lightest five-hour session of the year.

A few specialties, notably tobaccos, pushed up at the last, but indefinite trends ruled in most of the departments from the opening. Steels, rails, motors, rubbers, utilities and coppers failed to get anywhere, the majority closing with minus signs.

Explanations for the day's apathy were numerous. Brokers said their customers inclined to step carefully pending more light on forthcoming taxes and settlement of various labor controversies. There were individual bullish influences and the persistently good war news kept liquidation at a minimum.

The Associated Press sixty-stock average was unchanged at 50.7. Breadth again was lacking, 880 issues being traded. Of these 340 were down, 301 up and 229 unchanged. Transfers totalled 780,775 shares, smallest since April 20. They compared with 922,440 last Friday.

Glenn Martin was an isolated favorite, opening on a 4,000-share block for a gain of 2 and ending with a net advance of 1 1-2 at 22 3-4. Saturday's $1.50 dividend seemingly was a stimulant here.

A newly-promoted colonel gave a dinner to his regiment. Addressing the men, he said jovially: "Now fall upon the food without mercy. Treat it as if it were the enemy."

At the end of the dinner, he noticed a sergeant sneaking away with two bottles of wine.

"What are you doing?" he asked.

"Obeying orders, sir," was the reply. "When you don't kill the enemy you take them prisoners!"

Caller: "I am so sorry your mistress is out. Do you think she will be at home this evening?"

Maid: "She'll have to be; it's my night out."

TORONTO, May 24 (CP)—Cornwall Army team figures to shake hands with the Allan Cup next hockey season. Cornwall topped the Quebec senior league last Winter but lost in the play-offs to Ottawa Commandos, who had the benefit of some timely army postings. Now apparently the army plums are going into the Cornwall pie. Almost every day comes word of some prominent player ticketed for the St. Lawrence city. The grapevine says Toronto's Billy Taylor will play for Cornwall next season. And Ron Nelson, clever centre of Oshawa Generals, Eastern junior champions, entered the army today in expectation of being posted to Cornwall . . . Latest word is that Ottawa's Allan Cup champions will be broken up by next season. It is reported Neil Colville will be one of the few to remain in Commando uniforms. Give him a goalkeeper and a stick-boy and he may win the cup again anyway.

Tommy (Hamilton Spectator) Moore sees this prospect for the Ontario Rugby Football Union: "With most of Hamilton's football players now in the navy it has been hinted that the Wildcats of next season will be known as the H.M.C.S. Star. Al Lenard, Scotty Wright, Pickles Southwick, Len Wright and other boys of last season have changed mufti for the navy blue."

PADDOCK PATTER

Miss Judy Johnson, twenty-nine-year-old New York girl who trains horses for a living, has six jockey jugglers under her care at Toronto Woodbine. She'd like Ontario trainers and jockey licences, but the Ontario track moguls shudder at the thought—they'd like to keep just one job for men alone. Miss Judy would like to ride her steeplechasers at Woodbine . . . Vancouver's Hastings Park will have six seven-day meetings this Summer, the first opening July 3.

An estimated 25,000 Ottawans are fivepin bowlers . . . The six Calura brothers of Hamilton, Ont., are all boxers. There's Jackie, the world's featherweight champion, at 135 pounds; Johnny, 130; Jimmy, 116; Angelo, 126; Joey, 135; Charlie, 133 . . . Mike Shabaga and Leo Gasparini, who played senior hockey with Niagara Falls Cataracts last Winter, are expected to line up with the St. Catharines Saints next season . . . More than 50,000 golfers tour the eighteen-hole pitch-and-putt course in Vancouver's Stanley Park each year. The Parks Board operates the course, charges twenty-five cents a round, which includes loan of mashies and putter.

According to Culbertson

At duplicate bridge a mere extra trick, worth twenty or thirty points, may be just as valuable as the more sensational exploit of bidding a slam or of setting the opponents 1,000 points. In today's deal, taken from a recent eight-table duplicate game, an extra trick gave one team an advantage of three and a half match points over all the other teams.

At all tables the contract was four hearts, the bidding usually proceeding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

The opening lead also was the same at all eight tables—namely, the spade king. In most cases the South players permitted this to hold, hoping for a Bath coup (a spade continuation up to the A-J), but invariably, at the second trick, West shifted to the diamond queen. Seven declarers promptly put up dummy's king, cashed the club ace, entered the South hand with a trump and ruffed a club. They repeated this process a second time and then had to use the spade ace for entry to their own hand in order to draw the outstanding trumps. At the end they were left with another spade and a diamond loser, hence had to be content with exactly four-odd.

Top score was won in the following manner. The spade king was permitted to hold the first trick and, when West shifted to the diamond queen, this was ducked! Declarer saw that if the diamond suit were to break 3-3, the ducking play would be valuable in that he could later discard a spade on dummy's fourth diamond. There might, however, be an additional value in passing the diamond queen. West had shown the king and queen of spades by his opening lead. If he also had four diamonds, an interesting situation might develop.

After West held the second trick with the diamond jack, he shifted to a low club. Dummy's ace won, and declarer entered his own hand with a trump to the ten, to ruff a club. The nine of hearts was overtaken with the jack and declarer's last club was ruffed with the trump ace. Now the spade ace was utilized for an entry, and declarer cashed the king and queen of hearts. On the first of these, West safely discarded his last club, but on the second was in deep water. He could not give up the spade queen without establishing declarer's jack, nor could he let go a diamond without presenting dummy with three diamond tricks. Not being sure who held the spade jack and feeling that it was more important to guard the diamond suit, West let go the spade queen. Declarer cashed the jack of spades and then collected the ace and king of diamonds, fulfilling the contract with an extra trick.

War Casualties To Date From Victoria and Island Total 200

Nearly 200 Victoria and Vancouver Island boys have been listed as killed, missing or prisoners since the war began, according to records compiled from the files of The Daily Colonist. Approximately 170 are from Victoria, and the remainder from various Island points.

The record shows that Vancouver Island boys have served on almost every front as well as on the seas and in the air.

Airmen from this district, serving in the R.C.A.F., the R.A.F. and the United States Air Corps, have flown in the Battle of Britain, over Europe, in Ceylon, Burma, the Middle East and the Far East. Local soldiers have fought at Hongkong, Singapore, Dieppe, in Egypt and Tunisia, and Victoria sailors have seen action on the Atlantic, the Mediterranean and Pacific, Arctic and Indian Oceans.

At least eighty sailors, seventy of them from Victoria, have lost their lives at sea. Fifteen went down with the Fraser, thirty-one with the Margaree, and ten were posted missing when the Ottawa was sunk. Others have been killed on convoy duty and in action all over the high seas.

Some thirty-odd soldiers have been casualties, either killed, missing or taken prisoner. Thirteen fought gallantly at Hongkong and Singapore, the Middle East, and Tunisia claimed one each, and others have been killed in England or elsewhere. Four of the soldier casualties were from Up-Island.

Victoria and Island boys have been in action with the air forces of the Empire since the early air battles of the war, and over eighty of them have been killed, posted missing, or taken prisoner. Twenty of them are from districts outside Victoria.

With the Royal Canadian Air Force, at least sixty have paid the supreme sacrifice or been taken prisoner, over Europe, England, Newfoundland, Canada or the Middle East. More than twenty were members of the Royal Air Force serving in air operations in many theatres of war, and two Victoria boys flew with the United States Air Corps, one at Guadalcanal and one over France.

Big Crowds at Band Programme And Street Dance

Streets in down town Victoria were unusually quiet over the holiday week-end in spite of a fair number of out-of-town visitors, but large crowds turned out to attend the concert by the nationally known H.M.C.S. Naden Band under the baton of Lieut. H. G. Cuthbert in Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon, and the two baseball games at the Athletic Park Monday were well-attended. Last night another large crowd gathered near the Public Library for the street dance and sing-song.

An appreciative audience that filled the benches and overflowed even to the top of the hill Sunday heard the navy band play a variety of marches, waltzes and rhumbas. The afternoon was ideal and Beacon Hill Park at it best for the concert, which began at 3 o'clock and featured a cornet trio played by Assistant Bandmaster S. Sunderland and Bandsmen J. Terry and M. Sinden.

Some 1,500 to 2,000 people turned out for the street dance, held on Blanshard Street, between Yates and Johnson, to dance to the music of Ernie Fullerton's orchestra. The crowds that lined both sides of the street were so dense that it was hard to move through them.

Bert White, who has played for servicemen 105 times at the Elks Club, appeared on the rostrum in the guise of a Chinese laundryman, and with a pocketful of good gags. The "laundry bag" produced his one-string violin, made of an old broom handle, a chocolate box and a piece of picture wire, on which he reproduced faithfully some Chinese music, and a couple of old tunes.

"Curly" Perullet led the crowd in singing the old-time favorites; Darrel Brooks did the solos for Ernie's orchestra, and Murray Martindale was master of ceremonies.

Three of Victoria's bobbies, who had the task of moving about fifteen cars left by thoughtless motorists in the area marked off for the dance, did not consider the celebration quite as interesting. The offending cars were moved to nearby service stations.

The street dance as well as the band concert were arranged by Alderman W. H. Davies' entertainment committee, who have arranged further street-up concerts during the summer.

Late Air Commodore Attended University With Local Resident

A tribute to the late Air Commodore Sir Nigel Norman, one of the heads of air operations for the British commando staff, who was killed on active service, was paid yesterday by J. R. H. Cruikshank, Churchill Hotel.

"Henry Nigel St. Valery Norman was my oldest and best friend," Mr. Cruikshank said. "We were both at Cambridge together in 1921, he at Trinity and I at Gonville and Caius. We both went through the last war safely. He went to Woolwich and I to Quetta. He would have been forty-six last Friday, while I was forty-six in October.

"At Cambridge Nigel Norman took up flying," he said. "He was the first to have a private airdrome at his home. At Cambridge, too, he fenced and won his Blue."

Sir Nigel inherited his baronetcy from his father, Sir Henry Norman, distinguished journalist and former Postmaster-General of Britain. Sir Nigel married Patricia Annesley and leaves two young sons.

Income Tax Payers Slow to File Returns

Only a small number of T-1 special income tax forms have yet been filed with the income tax department here, F. B. Griffin, inspector of the department said yesterday. Individuals having an income of $660, but not over $3000, including not over $1,500 from investments, are required to file the completed form on or before June 30.

Form T-1 general, for the use of proprietors or partners in any business, and for those whose income is over $3,000, has not been received by the Victoria office as yet, but should be ready for distribution by the end of the month.

"The Vancouver office has none either," said Mr. Griffin, "we shall have our forms as soon as Vancouver, or a day later."

This form will incorporate new clauses of the recent budget, he said, and it is probably because of the work entailed and the fact that the budget was brought down so late that the new tax forms for businessmen were not made available sooner.

"Dina Cashman"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XXXVII

"It seems to be my fate to want to paint you," Andrew Havens said. Dina widened her eyes and, remembering her instructions upon an earlier occasion, turned to smile mysteriously at Rogers. But this time her face was much nearer his than it ever had been before, and the expression of grateful appreciation she saw there somewhat upset her.

He was suffering in the other woman's company as he always must. His smile was strained and unnatural, his upper lip beaded with fine perspiration.

Aline knew it, too. No snake charmer ever exerted a more confident away over her victims than that Aline was exerting now, relaxed and graceful in her big chair.

"Why didn't you tell us that night, Rogers, that you and Miss—I've Holland, forgive me—were planning this?"

"Oh, I don't know! We just got into the car one day, followed your example, and went up to Reno and had it all over without any fuss." He tried to say it carelessly, but he did not wholly succeed.

"So the paper says. Well, you'll have fuss enough now."

"Maybe we'll run away from it, hey, Geraldine?"

"Maybe we will." Dina said thoughtfully, not moving her gaze from the fire.

"Mrs. Caroline Holland was telling me all about you," Aline said suddenly, turning the battery of her silken, smiling manner toward the younger woman. "You were a friend of Vere Holland's, weren't you? Quite a good friend."

Dina brought her shadowed blue eyes from the fire to Aline's face. There was a moment of complete silence in the room. Andrew Havens looked from one to the other in mild, amused bewilderment.

"Yes, I knew Vere," Dina said.

"Very well, didn't you?" Aline pursued.

"Who told you anything about Geraldine and Vere Holland?" Rogers demanded. Dina, whose face had slowly crimsoned, sank back in her chair, a great wave of relief engulfing her.

"There was something to tell?" Aline countered.

"Apparently, Rogers said 'I don't know what Caroline's been talking about,' he went on, 'but I'm having Callaghan go down and find out what she's been saying.' he drawled. "After all, Aline, libel's libel, and Geraldine's my wife. I don't know what you told Betsey Berry, but the sooner that sort of thing gets scotched the better. Just what was your source of information, anyway?"

Aline's ivory face lost a shade of color. "Why, I don't know anything at all," she said, proudly indifferent. But there was a suggestion of stammering in her usually assured speech.

"I have nothing to do with it! Caroline told me that Vere had known Miss —— known your wife, that was all. I had said that she was here at a dinner party and that I was wondering about her."

"Well, if that's all you quoted to Betsey, that's all right then," Rogers said with an air of being mollified; "but from something she said — however, she evidently didn't get it from you! I'll have to find out where she did get it."

"I said nothing to Betsey Berry that Caroline didn't say to me," Aline said quickly.

"And nothing about Geraldine?"

"Nothing Caroline didn't say." She was uneasy now, on the defensive; there were two red spots in her cheeks.

"Well, Callaghan will run the whole thing down," Rogers said comfortably.

"Don't go consulting Frank Callaghan; don't be so silly!" Aline said lightly. "After all, I think all that I said was that Miss Cashman and Vere had been friends, and I'm sure that's true. Tell me, what do you two honeymooners do here all day long?" she added in a social tone of one keeping a conversation going but obviously anxious to get on firmer ground.

"We never seem to have time to spare, do we, Geraldine?" Rogers said, stuffing his pipe.

"We play cribbage," Dina contributed. "And I beat him," she added with a smile for Rogers.

"We'll have to begin to play cribbage," Andrew said unexpectedly. He had taken no part and, apparently, no interest in the little exchange of hostilities, merely glancing once or twice at his wife with a whimsical expression of surprise on his humorous, long-featured face. "The long Winter evenings down at the farm have been boring my wife to death," he continued. "As a matter of fact, we've been at a hotel in town for the last couple of weeks."

"Bored, were you, Aline?" Rogers asked mildly over his pipe.

Not bored at all," she answered lazily, looking at the fire between half-shut lids but first having given her husband a level, expressionless glance. "It's part of Andy's profession to meet people, to have them know he's here. And since quite a good deal is going on—the Ritchie party and the Stanfield wedding—we moved in for a fortnight."

"As a matter of fact, I like the country best in the Winter," Rogers observed. "Geraldine does, too."

"I love it here," Dina said simply.

"You're evidently quite an ideal couple!" Aline said with a little laugh. "You've not heard from Caroline about your marriage?" she asked Rogers in an undertone.

"I only wrote her a day or two ago, and if as you say they've been in Honolulu — Anyway, I've not heard!"

Distrusting all mankind and banks in particular, Ellen kept her savings in her room.

But Cupid was too much for her at last, and she agreed to marry the local butcher. She asked her mistress:

"What's the best way to put my money in the bank?"

"But I thought you didn't trust banks!" exclaimed her employer.

"No more I do mum. But it'll be safer in the bank than in the house with a strange man about!"

How It Started—

CRAVAT—FRENCH FOR CROAT

To most of us it is just a neckcloth; but to the Croat of long ago, it was very much like the old school tie.

As a simple scarf, the cravat first came into prominence as part of the uniform of Croat troops in the Austrian Army of the sixteen hundreds.

Some time before the middle of the seventeenth century it was adopted by France for its light cavalry, the neck-piece itself being named after the Gallic term for an inhabitant of Croatia—Cravate.

Soon the Beau Brummels of Paris took up the fashion and before long the plain cloth had become a lacy, flowing affair, popular among all classes of civilians, whence we have it.

Says B.C. Not To Blame for Beer Troubles

Maitland Scores Winch on Question

REVELSTOKE, B.C., May 24 (CP)—Hon. R. L. Maitland, Attorney-General, and Hon. H. G. Perry, Minister of Education, gave a clear-cut recital of British Columbia's Coalition Government's record at a campaign meeting here Saturday night. They spoke in behalf of Joseph McKinnon, Liberal-Coalition candidate contesting this seat in the June 14 by-election.

Vincent Segur, Revelstoke locomotive engineer, is the Commonwealth Co-operative Federation Party candidate. Vacancy in the riding was caused by the death of Harry Johnston, Liberal-Coalition member.

Maitland said that in eighteen months the Government has been engaged in discharging its responsibilities arising out of the war and that there has been little time for political discussion. He asserted that no government ever had less time to attend to its political "fences" and only the Salmon Arm and Revelstoke by-elections had forced it to divert its attention from the urgent business of government.

TAKES ISSUE WITH WINCH

He emphasized the Government's determination to link the Pacific Coast with the Peace River country and the Alaska Highway and took issue with Harold Winch, C.C.F. leader, for injecting the beer question into the campaign. He asserted it was typical of some of the "ridiculous" complaints received by the Provincial Government and claimed the Government was not responsible for the situation.

Perry outlined Government legislation passed at the two sessions since it came into office and declared that school teachers in British Columbia had received more from the present Government in eighteen months than they had in the twenty years before the Coalition Government was formed.

He deplored what he termed "agitation" which would have the Provincial and Dominion Governments to assume full control of education, saying such a move would be a step in the centralization of the administration and a departure from the backbone of democratic government.

Mr. Perry claimed there was "a joker" in the C.C.F.'s policy of social ownership in the words "wherever feasible."

"Commonwealth Co-operative Federation leaders know," he declared, "that it is not feasible for any Provincial Government to exclude private enterprise or for any C.C.F. Government to finance industrial enterprises of any magnitude."

McKinnon also spoke.

What Today Means

GEMINI

If May 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods will be from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Shortsighted policies are apt to owe their origin to deep-seated prejudices, so be careful to what degree you permit your likes and dislikes to rule your judgment when making important decisions. Avoid forcing issues if you wish to avoid antagonizing someone who later on may be helpful to you in more than one way. An inability to concentrate their thoughts on subjects under discussion may result in a manifestation of indecision on the part of many persons generally able to make up their minds quickly, so you need not be surprised should you suffer some inconvenience from the prevailing tendency to hold decisions in abeyance. Married and engaged couples, and those enjoying bright matrimonial prospects, had better make up their minds to "render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's," especially when credit should be given to those deserving it for thoughtful deeds and kindly actions.

If you are a woman and May 25 is your birthday, never let the memories of yesterday interfere with your opportunities to enjoy to the full the pleasures of today, unless you are prepared to grow old before your time. Always realize that a cheerful companion is a delight and a doleful one a bore. The more you exert yourself to radiate cheerfulness the happier you will be. As an interior decorator, critic, fiction writer, teacher, literary agent, public stenographer, secretary, librarian, actress, broker, business manager, purchasing agent, or in some patriotic work, you may receive more than your share of praise and financial returns. Apparently your marriage will be a stepping-stone to happiness and good fortune.

The child born on May 25 generally, during the latter part of adolescence, takes a serious interest in the acquisition of knowledge on subjects that will prove helpful in his future quest for a high degree of success. Because of his dynamic energy, success is apt to crown this youngster's effort early in life.

If you are a man and May 25 is your natal day you may go through life being more sinned against than sinning and win the deep affection of those with whom you closely associate. As a clergyman, educator, dentist, physician, politician, jurist, purchasing agent, merchant, manufacturer, journalist, author, actor, or answering our country's call to arms, you may find yourself the recipient of many honors and enjoying freedom from financial cares.

Must Not Count on Collapse

Churchill Warns War May Still Be Long

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said Saturday there is a possibility the "proud German army" may collapse as it did in the first Great War, or in Tunisia—but added it would be folly to count on that possibility.

Speaking informally to the British Embassy staff, the Prime Minister declared there will be no relaxation in the war effort until victory is won.

He warned that the conflict may still be "long and arduous."

Mr. Churchill conferred Saturday morning with William Phillips, President Roosevelt's personal representative to India, and Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commander of United States forces in the China-Burma area.

He conferred Sunday with Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, and other American and British military leaders.

In addition to Admiral King, he saw Maj.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the 14th United States Air Force in China, and Lt.-Gen. Brehon Somervell, chief of the United States Army Services of Supply.

Mother Not to Blame for the Children's Colds

Despite all the mother can do the kiddies will run out of doors not properly wrapped up; have on too much clothing; get overheated and cool off too suddenly; get their feet wet; kick off the bed clothes, and do a dozen things the mother cannot help.

Half the battle in treating children's colds is to give them something they will like; something they will take without any fuss, and this the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a remedy used by Canadian mothers, for the past 48 years.

Price 25c a bottle; the large family size, about 3 times as much, 60c, at all drug counters.
